

Funded training available for furloughed employees

Have you got staff on furlough? You could access funded training for your furloughed employees through the Skills Support for the Workforce programme.

Staff who are on furlough may be feeling detached from the team or their job role. Training through the Skills Support for the Workforce programme could help to motivate these employees and reengage your team. Training can address skills gaps and make sure your employees have the most up to date skills to drive your business forward.

We have a network of expert training providers who can deliver 100s of fully funded and accredited training courses in a range of subject areas including:

- Digital & IT skills
- Customer service
- Business administration
- Retail
- Manufacturing
- And many more

Many of the courses on offer are virtual so employees can learn remotely at home.

The SSW programme is co-financed by the European Social Fund and the Education and Skills Funding Agency so the training can be accessed at no cost to your business or the individual.
